William Ng

I met William Ng at one of the Novi Woodworker Shows, several years ago. He studied with Sam Maloof and has his own woodworking school. I wanted to take one of his classes but the cost was too rich for my blood. I would have had to purchase the wood there, pay for the class, food and motel for 7 days, plus round trip air and shipping of the chair back to Michigan. (DB)

William Ng comes from an engineering background and uses a similar approach in his woodworking. Precision, accuracy and efficiency are emphasized in his teaching. His sense of humor, combined with his passion for woodworking makes for an enjoyable learning experience. <http://wnwoodworkingschool.com/> (Continued next page)

William Ng (From p2)

"The cross cut sled is probably the most important jig in your shop. Here, William will explain the theory and calculations to enable anyone to get a sled dead on square. He will show his tips and techniques for constructing the sled." William Ng

Go to www.youtube.com and search for "5 Cuts to a "Perfect" Cross-Cut Sled" or "wnwoodworks" and then enjoy.

Material List for Cross Cut Sled:

Runners: 5/16" x 3/4" x 30"

Base: 1/2" x 34" x 30"

Front Fence: 1-1/2" x 5" x 30"

Rear Fence: 1-1/2" x 5" x 26"

Note: You can also go to his site. <http://wnwoodworkingschool.com/> and click on "Videos" to watch other films from his school also there are many videos on YouTube for woodworkers.

I found this film a couple of months ago and shared it with Ken Herriman. Ken and Arnold and Larry tested it out and Larry did an excellent job of demoing it last month.

Just for Fun: An absolutely charming film about furniture & people. Take 8 minutes & watch it. You'll be glad you did." Peter Follansbee, joiner's notes", Link to a film about Irish Folk Furniture. <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KrfDAIqn6KE>

Del Jacob must be very busy, He was going to send pictures and let us know what he is learning.

Did you know: If Americans were to switch just 10% of their total mileage to scooters, they would consume 14 million gallons less fuel and reduce CO2 emissions by 324 million pounds in just one day.

Vespa, an Italian line of scooters manufactured by Piaggio, is now Europe's largest manufacturer of two-wheeled vehicles, and the world's fourth largest motorcycle manufacturer by unit sales. The inspiration for the original classic scooter was derived from the pre-WWII Cushman scooters which were made in Nebraska and exported to Italy in large numbers.
